Three-Alarm Fire Guts Dudley Street Company

The State Fire Marshal is still investigating the cause of a $100,000 fire which raged through the Trimount Plastic Company on Dudley street Christmas night.

The general alarm fire, Arlington's first since the Crosby School, was fought by firefighters from seven communities in sub-freezing weather.

According to Fire Chief Thomas H. Egan, the blaze started near the front of the building in a room used to store paper.

It spread throughout the building and the burning plastic created heavy smoke which drifted over a mile-long area.

Smoke from the burning plastic mushroomed 100 feet above the cinder block building at the height of the blaze and then drifted into homes throughout the area.

Fire fighters successfully kept the flames from chemicals, including 200 gallons of highly explosive ether, used in curing the plastic.

The first alarm was called in by Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Boudreau of Dudley street. They were playing with their three-month-old granddaughter when they noticed their ill for about three months but continued to perform his duties from his home.

Tributes To Town Clerk Golden

The death of Town Clerk James J. Golden shocked all of Arlington.

So many tributes to the beloved official have been offered, it would be impossible to print them all. Some of them follow:

"The loss of Jim Golden saddens us all and our hearts go out to Mrs. Golden and his family in their bereavement."

"Jim Golden was the sort of public servant to strengthen one's faith in our institutions. Ever friendly, graceful, and thoroughly competent, his personal contribution to Arlington was perhaps unique, and the gravity of his loss to our town is apparent to all."

"An humble, intelligent, and industrious man has gone to his reward. His deep faith and devotion to highest ideals explain his admirable character. His whole life was a preparation for this day."

"May he be long remembered by us in honor and in gratitude, and may his devoted soul rest in peace."

Msgr. Oscar R. O'Gorman
Pastor, St. Agnes Church

"Jim Golden's passing is a severe loss to the Town of Arlington and a great personal loss to me."

"Since the very first day I came to Arlington as Town Manager, he has extended the hand of friendship to me."

"With his broad knowledge of Town Affairs, he was the perfect guide and advisor."

"Always was he ready and willing to give me whatever aid and assistance I sought from him."

"He, in my opinion, was the ideal public official — what with his ability, integrity, intelligence and dedication."

"Jim Golden was a man of character. In my many years of public and private employment, I have never met his superior. In my mind and heart I shall always cherish his memory."

Employees Group Asks $312 Hike; Personnel Board Says 'Too Late'

Elect Two Residents At Five Cents Bank

Two new corporators were elected at the recent annual meeting of the Corporators of the Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank, announces Edward P. Clark, president.

They are Ernest Benishimol of 15 Shore rd., principal of the New Preparatory School in Cambridge; and John B. Byrne Jr. of 7 Bacon st., plumbing inspector for Winchester and Lexington.

The Arlington Municipal Employees Association has asked an interview with the Personnel Board to request a $312 across-the-board pay increase.

Lee Morris, executive secretary to the Board, said yesterday that the interview "probably won't be granted."

Morris, in a letter to the Association, said that the Personnel Board had met with individual groups and individuals to discuss pay raises during September, October and November.

He wrote that reviews of the requests have already been scheduled by the Finance Committee and the Town Manager and that the (Continued on Page 4)

Oil Company Official Sees Business Gain

A New England oil company executive predicted today that business in general will continue to improve in 1959 and that the oil industry will share in the advance.

Ralph F. Carey, manager of Shell Oil Company's New England marketing division, said domestic demand for gasoline in 1959 is expected to be four per cent higher than in 1958. Demand for all oil products will be up five per cent.

New peaks are predicted for industrial production and gross national product in 1959, Carey pointed out, and the automobile industry is expected to do better this year than last year.

The oil industry sells more gasoline than any other product and therefore is normally affected by trends in the automobile industry.

Last year, passenger car registration showed the smallest gain since 1952.

Yet, despite this shrinkage, the general business slowdown and bad weather, the sales of gasoline in 1958 were fairly good.

The demand for an increasing volume of high-quality gasoline will continue, Carey said, and he predicted that the oil industry will continue to meet such demands with improved gasoline and with additives, especially the phosphorus-based compounds.

High, Medium or Low?

We pick up our pen with heavy heart to try to put into mere words the deep feeling of ourselves and the entire community at the loss of an illustrious Townsman. Certainly, Town Clerk James J. Golden was that—a townsman of Arlington. In fact, we recall that not too many years back, at a testimonial banquet in his honor, held in the Town Hall, he was saluted as "Mr. Arlington."

In every phase of life, Mr. Golden became a leader through his hard work, his loyalty to the cause or effort, his command of respect from his contemporaries. He held major offices—usually president, chairman, etc.—of every organization of which he was elected, appointed or joined in the realms of religion, civic activity, politics, charity, sports or fraternity. The latter, we wish to emphasize. Without doubt, more than any other man in this town, James J. Golden, as a layman, helped more people with their problems—whether it was how to register to vote, obtain assistance because of hardship, or who to talk to about building merely an outdoor fireplace. The demands upon himself were relentless. Any assignment bestowed or urged upon him was carried out accurately, on time and with enthusiasm. His praise or criticism was given with the greatest degree of impartiality we have ever witnessed.

In his capacity as Town Clerk, we of the Advocate have been in close relation with him. However—and this is our tribute—so have literally thousands of others, whether of high, medium or low position. His door was always open, his expert advice always ready, his personal attention always heartily given!

With Full Confidence?

Arlington did not escape swelling the horrible, national toll of human lives over the Christmas Holiday. A 75-year-old resident was ground to earth under the wheels of progress on Massachusetts avenue Christmas eve.

Whether the fault lay with a foolhardy pedestrian or a careless driver will be determined by the courts. In either case, the Town contributed to the accident to a degree.

Admittedly, there will always be accidents with all too many, fatal. It is impossible to prevent them on all of our 60-odd miles of streets.

But, somehow, the "avenue" is part of "us," somehow. It is the heart of our community. As a heart, it should be warm and friendly, not snarling cars and dimly lighted areas.

We wish to make three points:

a) Since the removal of the trolley tracks, the Avenue has become a broad highway—particularly from Alewife brook to Mill street—inviting excessive speed. With this step of progress, too, we venture that the traffic has increased by at least twenty-five per cent.

b) The rigidity of enforcement against speed and careless, in and out driving has not kept pace. Drive the length of the Avenue some day at the posted speed limit. Keep reasonably to the right and you will be passed by at least thirty cars, even during non-rush hours.

c) In spite of boasts that the street lights have been increased by this or that number of lumens within the past years, the fact is, to us, the Avenue is dimly lighted. In the major shopping centers, such as in the East, the Center, Lockeland and Public markets, Brattle street, the Heights, the commercial signs on stores help considerable. On the other hand, in between these areas the lighting is not sufficient in our opinion. We are not going into scientific research but we feel that the street lights are designed for highways such as Alewife parkway, the divided Route 2, etc.—all of which are much more narrow than the broad Avenue.

We are not trying to raise a hue and cry which usually follows such an accident—particularly if a child had been the victim. Yet, we wish to avoid complacency.

All we ask is that, after each such tragedy, we can say to ourselves with confidence "we have done the best job possible in protecting people from killing each other."

In this case, can we say this—with full confidence?

We Hate To See It!

We detest seeing certain headlines!

We refer to those which maliciously brand hundreds and thousands of honest, law-abiding people. No doubt, we too have been guilty of falling into this same trap over the years—that of easy and sleepy reporting.

As our New Year's Resolve, we will strive to keep such headlines out of our paper. Maybe we will stumble and falter but we will do our human best!

The headlines to which we refer are:

Policeman Nabbed As Hit And Run Driver—Sailor Accused of Robbery—Father of Six Shoots Family—Church Choir Girl Accused of Lewdness—Mother of three Assaults Barkeeper—Dogcatcher Beats Boxer to Death—Fireman Sets Blaze—

The above should make good reading only to the depraved and the idiot.

A person's broad identification as to occupation or position has nothing to do with the reporting of individual human frailties, errors and breaking of laws. An individual does these things, not the job, status or title.

TO THE PARENTS:

It can truthfully be said that Christmas has come and gone. The toys are either forgotten or broken so you can consider them gone. But still to come are the bills.

That Man About Town

By MAI

The death of Jim Golden will leave a void which can never be expressed in mere words. He was Arlington's best loved official. And he was one of the finest men it has ever been our privilege to know.

An item in MAT a few weeks ago was misinterpreted in many quarters. This is no time to go into it. But it will be explained later, you can bet on that.

Next week will see the advent of open meetings of all Arlington Boards and Committees. It was a long time in coming and to many officials it is a thing to be feared.

Officials who see open meetings as a deliberate attempt to make them look foolish have a pretty lame excuse. They must be foolish to begin with.

Certainly, having the spotlight centered on your every word and action could make a man uncomfortable. But if all officials could have seen the transformation of the Selectmen, they'd be a lot more sure of themselves.

The Selectmen voluntarily opened their meetings over a year ago. In the beginning, there was almost constant warfare with the press which reported their actions accordingly. But as time has gone by, the Selectmen have become more poised, less panicky about stating their views. They're easy, relaxed and sure.

The first few meetings may present a problem. But when officials become used to an audience, whether one or 100, they tend to forget one exists. It is only when a man plays to an audience or tries to hoodwink it, that he looks foolish.

Boss, sorry about last week. I forgot about the early deadline. To my readers let me wish a belated Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Advocate Manager Cites Golden's Fine Career

"Several weeks ago reference was made to Town Clerk Golden in our columns which evidently offended many of his friends," Leonard D. Wood, manager of the Advocate, said this week.

"It is always extremely difficult to put thoughts into words. It seldom can be done with absolute perfection within the brief moments allowed in newspaper work. Unfortunately, there occurs misunderstandings as to intent."

"We of the Advocate have always had the highest regard for James J. Golden. Proof of this, we believe, is the following letter, written on the 25th anniversary of his service to the Town."

The letter follows:

April 4, 1958

Mr. James J. Golden
Town Clerk
Town of Arlington
Massachusetts

Dear James:

Congratulations on twenty-five years of service to the Town of Arlington and its, now, 47,000 and more residents!

Your career in length almost exactly coincides with that of the Philharmonic Society of Arlington and it seems only yesterday that I was asking for permits, licenses and so forth from you as Clerk of the Board of Selectmen—our first association.

More recently, since my assumption of the management of the Advocate, our relationship has been ever closer.

We of the Advocate, from pretty close observation due to the nature of our business, are confident when we state that yours is one of the most efficiently and courteously run offices, municipal or private, of any with which we have contact—not only for regular business but for information or, occasionally, advice. Any office or enterprise positively reflects the ability of its head.

In all our mutual transactions over the years, you stand unique. It is indeed difficult not to allow sincere and honest interest in the other man's problems to degenerate into favoritism; on the other hand, not to allow firm, positive business procedure to become heartless and domineering.

These things are not part of James J. Golden.

With best wishes for the next twenty-five years for you and yours, I am

Most cordially yours,
Leonard D. Wood

Golden—

Mr. Golden had served as Town Clerk in Arlington for the past ten years.

Just last April, he celebrated his 25th year of service to the Town.

In 1933, he was appointed as executive secretary to the Board of Selectmen.

He held that position until Town Clerk Earl Ryder died in 1948 and he was appointed as Town Clerk. He worked in a dual capacity for almost a year.

In 1949, he ran for the office of Town Clerk and was elected.

He won by overwhelming margins since that time and was so well thought of, that few challenged him for public office.

Golden served not only his Town, but countless religious, civic, and fraternal organizations.

He was past president of the Massachusetts Town Clerk's Association and was treasurer of that organization at his death.

He was past president of the Arlington Touchdown Club, and the Gridiron Club. He was Past Grand Knight of the Arlington Knights of Columbus and a Trustee of the Arlington Lodge of Elks.

He was a Trustee of Symmes Hospital and was appointed to the Uniform Commercial Code Commission by Gov. Furcolo two years ago.

He was a member of the Arlington Rotary Club, the St. Agnes Holy Name Society, and the Arlington Brotherhood Committee.

He was active in countless charitable drives and funds, including the Monica Cotter Trust Fund.

But more than all this, he was a friend of thousands.

He is survived by his wife, the former Irene M. Doherty, four children, Mrs. Lawrence Flynn of Arlington, James J. Jr., of St. Louis Park, Minn., and Patricia and Virginia, both at home.

He is also survived by three brothers and a sister, Miss Mary A. Golden of Arlington, William P. of Arlington, Peter A. of Arlington, and Father Golden of the Stigmatine Order.

"BUCKS" WORTH IT

To the Editor:

I just could not read the Advocate this week and not send a reply to the article on "BUCKS THROWN AWAY."

My children have just gone skating at one of the many parks that have a small rink for the children, and I praise Arlington for making it possible for these places, and keeping them in good condition so the children enjoy their day spent skating.

I was raised in Arlington and skated many hours myself at Hills Pond, even then the town men scraped the ice, if the ice isn't kept free of chips and so forth, the skating is not good therefore you wouldn't bother going.

Now my husband, children and myself all go to Hills for a wonderful afternoon together, and have a wonderful time, thank you for making it possible, the money spent is worth it and more for the healthy, clean fun we all get out of it.

The Red Cross dispensed 10 gallons of coffee 2 gallons of bouillon, and treated several fire-fighters for minor injuries.

Association's request came in too late.

The request for a meeting came from C. Patricia Donoghue, secretary of the Association.

In asking the $312 pay hike, the Association pointed out the higher cost of living.

It also asked double pay for five holidays and time off for fire and police when other employees are off.

Already before the Personnel Board are the Employees' Union request for a $280 pay raise and a request of Fire and Police for $500.

The sudden passing of Jim Golden has deeply shocked and saddened his friends and co-workers. He possessed a rare combination of outstanding ability and endearing human qualities. This won him the friendship and admiration of all who knew him, as well as great respect as a civic leader.

The Town will sorely miss Jim Golden, the unusually able and sincere public official.

His friends and colleagues will miss him as a kind and virtuous man.

—Francis A. Coughlin
Town Treasurer

"The untimely death of James J. Golden has shocked the entire community and I know that his innumerable friends and admirers will sincerely mourn the passing of this outstanding citizen."

"It has been my privilege to enjoy a life-long association with this remarkable person, not only in his capacity as a public official, but as an outstanding citizen and a dedicated family man."

"His love of his neighbor, his numerous acts of generosity and charity and his capacity in extending assistance whenever called upon, endeared him to everyone."

"Throughout his service to the Town for a quarter of a century, first as Executive Secretary to the Board of Selectmen and later as Town Clerk, the name of Jimmy Golden had become a by-word, not only in Arlington, but throughout the Commonwealth."

"His popularity in various civic and fraternal associations and his special and diversified talents brought him many well deserved honors through service in high offices of these organizations."

"The Town will suffer by his loss to the community and I personally will grieve for the loss of a dear friend and associate."

"My heart goes out to his beloved wife and his family in this their darkest hour for the irreplaceable loss of this exemplary husband and father."

—Joseph P. Greeley
Chm., Bd. of Selectmen

"The death of James J. Golden comes to us as a shocking and a very personal loss. Our hearts are full of sympathy for his family, to which he was most devoted."

"As one who, for many years, has revered his personal friendship and followed closely his official life, I say in deep sincerity that Arlington has lost an irreplaceable man. He was a Christian gentleman."

"As former Secretary to the Arlington Board of Selectmen, his genial personality became recognized. His election as Town Clerk opened a larger field for his talented usefulness to our town."

"James J. Golden, as President of Massachusetts Town Clerks' Association, greatly expanded the sphere of his guiding influence in a most important field."

"His expert knowledge of the many phases of his office and his influential leadership in opposing much harmful and costly legislation has been too little recognized and appreciated."

"Jimmy" Golden was a tireless worker. He was conscientious in every detail of his manifold duties. He gave himself unsparingly in countless ways above and beyond the usual demands of his office. He enjoyed his work. He took real pleasure in helping people. His office was a model and guide for other Town Clerks throughout the state to follow.

"His Spirit will live forever. His influence will never die."

—Rep. Hollis M. Gott

"The death of James J. Golden places a void in the official and personal life of our town. His efficient and kind manner will be missed by all of us who called upon him for assistance with election problems and the business of carrying out our office."

"My sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Golden and his family."

—John Morine
Chairman
School Committee

"My fellow members of the Arlington Housing Authority join with me in mourning the loss of a splendid public servant."

"His was a life of dedication to his family, his church, his friends, and his community. He will be remembered by those with whom he came in contact as a gentle and kind person ever ready to solve any problem whether great or small."

"My friendship with Jim Golden dates back almost thirty years. Like so many others who knew him well, I feel a deep sense of personal loss."

—James A. Coffey
Chairman
Housing Authority

"For a long time here in Arlington no event large or small, has taken place unshared in by Jimmie Golden."

"No man can take such an interest in town affairs without leaving a profound effect on that town. Pride in our town and in our friend Jimmie belong together."

"We of the Assessor's office will sadly miss our able, active friend."

Prices To Hold — But It Costs More

Although prices may hold relatively steady during 1959, many families will face increased expenditures as the war and postwar babies grow up.

This report comes from Barbara Higgins, Extension family economics specialist, University of Massachusetts.

She explains that families with children born near the end of the war and just after the war are now in or entering upon the most expensive phase of their life cycle.

A larger than ever number of young people will be ready for college in the fall of 1959. Even if college is not in the family plans, they can still expect greater expenditures for food, clothing, dwelling upkeep, transportation and personal care than when these children were younger.

Miss Higgins recently returned from the annual Outlook Conference of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture in Washington, D.C. While the agricultural picture was the primary concern of this conference, family, or consumer economics was considerably explored.

A slight decline in food prices should offset the possible continued rise in some of the services, such as medical care. The recent slight decline in outstanding consumer installment credit has been reversed. This may indicate that more consumers are now ready to make purchases of automobiles and household durable goods than during 1958 or 1957, says Miss Higgins.

Officials Irate At Death Toll

Gov. Foster Furcolo, Honorary chairman of the Massachusetts Highway Safety Committee, and Registrar Clement A. Riley, chairman, have announced that they are shocked at the record of death and injury on our highways during the Christmas holidays.

Every enforcement officer in the Commonwealth has been assigned to control and regulate highway traffic during the New Year holiday period. Drunken drivers will be locked up and every flagrant violator of the motor vehicle laws will lose their licenses, Riley said.

"The terrible record of death and injury over the Christmas holiday period has caused great alarm nationally and locally," said the Governor and the Registrar, "and we are determined this will not be repeated in Massachusetts over the New Year holiday."

Records show that in four out of five traffic accidents during the hours of darkness, the drivers had been drinking. More than 5,000 enforcement officers will be on the highways from 6 p.m. Wednesday through midnight Sunday to lock up drunks found behind the wheel and to apprehend other serious violators.

"The public must be protected from this lunatic fringe of irresponsible drivers," Riley declared.

Automobiles must be off the highways by midnight New Year's Eve unless registered for 1959.

A NEW YEAR...

Is there a formula... for a perfect year?
One that would ease decisions made...
From wrong... to successful... right?
One that would fill a heart with cheer,

A THOUGHT FOR THE NEW YEAR

"LET your light so SHINE before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."
Matt. 5:16

REPLIES!

Lone Star,
I was shocked to hear of Pollys' passing. You certainly have become a tower of strength since the first letter you wrote us. I too have gained courage to face things that would have thrown me a year ago. The friends I have met here have served as a constant enrichment to my life. Bless you and your memories, and may your New Year be a beautiful one. You DESERVE IT!

LITTLE JOEY

Serenity,

Your Christmas poem was very impressive and lovely thought behind it. It betrays your beautiful soul and kind heart. May I say that this year has been the richest one I have known; you have made it so with all the wonderful things and thoughts you have added to it. May our friendship continue to be the light of our lives. Have a very happy New Year.
KENARDEN

Dear M.L.M.

May this coming year bring you real happiness and the fulfillment of all of your dreams. Thank you for all of the joy you have given me; and the kindness of your heart.
Finally, brethren, bless you; with health, understanding, faith, and courage.
KENARDEN

To All,
Your EDITOR and staff wish to all of you
Only... the finest things
A NEW YEAR... can bring
A wealth of joy, and good will too
And fondest blessings... the whole year through.
YOUR CORNER EDITOR

CATCHING UP!

Kenarden,
Words just can't express my feelings about the letter from Lone Star. Children have a way of being honest and sincere; and their simple acceptance of God is amazing. It is no wonder the Master said, "Truly, I say unto you whosoever does not receive the Kingdom of God as a child shall not enter in."
I felt as though I had walked on holy ground, and wanted to say with Peter, "It is good for us to be here."
Surely with your insight you know what I mean. I do hope that I can live up to just one part of Lone Stars' tribute.
Thank you so much for writing.

A DABSTER

Dear Pot Luck,
It sounds as though your African Violets are suffering from "Crown-Rot" caused by too much water!

Pull them up by the root, break off the top, until the stem, (or crown), is free from rot. "Stick" it back into the dirt again. Water well, from the bottom, for a few days, then give the pot a chance to dry out. They root easily this way.

Any new plant you may get should not be watered too much. "Feel" the soil, and if it is wet defer the watering job for two days. Plastic pots need less water than do clay pots; because plastic does not absorb the moisture.

My "Pink Cloud" is beautiful at the moment. If it had a lace doily beneath it, it would look like an old fashioned nosegay.

A DABSTER

Patch of Blue, All;
Holiday Greeting's to you all! I am now home for the festive occasion; and it has been just that for me this year. Mother and Dad have really taken a new outlook to life! I came away from college being fifteen in a class of two hundred and forty-two and they really were overjoyed, and realize that I am in love with nursing. Now I have their blessing and that was the best Christmas gift anyone could have given. I showed mother and dad your note that I have clung to when the going was rough; and they said, "Bless her. She gave you what we failed to see. She should see you today. You honor her faith in you." So... I bless you too. Where have you been? I've REALLY MISSED SEEING YOUR LETTERS! COME BACK PATCH OF BLUE!

Former Local Firm Has Strong Year

BURLINGTON, Mass., Dec. 5, 1958—Technical Operations, Inc., of Burlington has announced that it had a strong year in 1958 and that earnings which were being retained in the company increased by 39 percent over 1957. Net profits for the year were up 47 percent over 1957. Formerly, the company had its main plant in Arlington on Schouler ct. Total sales for 1958 were $2,363,000 and income after taxes rose from $65,700 in 1957 to $96,300 this year. Total net worth is now $1,125,000 representing an increase of $163,000 over 1957.

Technical Operations' chief source of revenue results from research and development programs conducted for industry and several key government agencies.

As typical of the research which resulted in Technical Operations' strong, steady growth, Dr. F. C. Henriques, President, described the firm's successful pioneering in the development of a grainless photographic film.

The firm recently completed a study for the Matson Navigation Company which will enable it to optimize overall freighter operations ranging from shipment scheduling to actual cargo loading.

In physical research, Technical Operations teams are working on a project for the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization. They are measuring experimentally the amount of protection afforded against radioactive fallout by office building, schools, basements, and simple fallout shelter.

Business Gains At Seafood Store

Everyday is fish day as far as John Higgins is concerned. Higgins, who owns The Seafood Store at 464 Massachusetts ave. in Arlington Center is a man who not only knows his business but likes it as well.

For 28 years now, John Higgins has been in the retail fish business. It has been his one and only job.

Higgins began selling fish in his teens. And he's been at it ever since.

Every morning, Higgins drives to the fish pier to buy for that day's business, thus guaranteeing only the freshest fish for his customers. How early? "Real early," says the popular Higgins.

All filets are cut directly at The Seafood Store. All shrimp and lobsters are cooked on the premises.

As for catching the fish, Higgins leaves that to the professionals. But on his own time, Higgins enjoys fishing as much as any amateur angler. "Sometimes I even catch one," Higgins says.

Married and the father of two children, Higgins took over the Center Seafood Store in October. Since that time business has increased forty percent.

He originally owned a sea food store in Chelsea for eight years. He took over the buying duties or the Arlington store three years ago

Waddle Station Shows Growth

When a man can own and manage a small business successfully it's worthy of comment. But when he can own and manage two businesses at the same time, that's news.

Thus, Howard Waddle, one of Arlington's newest business men, definitely rates a spot in the headlines.

In August of 1957, Waddle took over the Shell Service Station at 93 Broadway. And simultaneously he started a new business, Arlington Automatic Transmission, at the same site. The two businesses are separate entities.

The Service Station is one of the largest in Town. Six pumps and three bays

New Jumbo Run By Local Man

The New Jumbo Restaurant in Teele Square Somerville has a definite Arlington flavor, thanks to facts.

The first is that the New Jumbo is owned by an Arlington man, George Robbat of 26 Frost st. And the second is that hundreds of residents eat there.

The New Jumbo is one of the most modern restaurants in Greater Boston. Featuring American and Italian cuisine, it offers the entire family fine food at reasonable prices.

In addition to its regular dining facilities, the New Jumbo has spacious new quarters for banquets, wedding receptions and the like.

The interior of the Jumbo has drawn praise from everyone.

The "Mahogany Room" for example is of reddish Honduras Mahogany from floor to ceiling, except for one wall of southern bluestone.

Two tasteful murals of campus scenes at Tufts College effectively break up the two long walls.

Dinner music is funnelled into the entire area by means of concealed speakers and a Seeburg Hi-Fi system.

Four Generations Served By Alson

A store which can maintain the confidence of its customers for a single generation may be said to have proven itself worthy. But a store which can rightfully boast of service to four generations is more than that . . . it is an institution.

And such is the claim of Alson's Shoes at 463 Massachusetts ave., in Arlington Center.

Alson's has fitted shoes for so many Arlington residents for so many years, that the real name of the owner has long since been forgotten.

To thousands of satisfied customers, he has become "Sam Alson".

Actually, the name is a combination of the initials of Sam's father and his sons.

The combination is, of course, Alson's.

The firm began 50 years ago with a shoe store in the North End of Boston.

Through hard work and a constant attention to customers' needs, it has grown into one of the largest shoe dealerships in New England with two retail stores and concessions in more than 25 Department Stores.

In Arlington, only Alson's Shoes offers the popular Family Shoe Club.

Under the plan, after 12 pairs of shoes are purchased by a family, the thirteenth pair, of equal quality, is given free of charge.

There is no time limit to the Family Shoe Club.

The offer also applies for slippers, rubbers, and sneakers.

Three sales men are regularly employed at Alson's. On Saturday, the complement of personnel reaches six.

Alson's is open daily from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

"We're now in the first year of our second half of a century," says Sam. "And, as in 1908, the satisfaction of our customers is our primary concern."

Head table guests at the dinner will include eleven members of the faculty. Mrs. Maud Chapman Anderson, dean and director of the Institute, will preside.

The faculty comprises Rabbi Jordan H. Shepard, Temple Shalom Jewish Community Center, Medford; the Rev. Lemuel K. Lord, First Methodist church, Melrose; Miss Jutta Reich, First Congregational church, Winchester; the Rev. Berkley C. Hawthorne, First Methodist church, Medford; Miss Rosemary Todd, Harvard University; Miss Marilyn Haley, Harvard University; Mrs. Robert C. Garrett, Jr., Old South Congregational church Copley square, Boston.

Also Mrs. Kenneth A. Lucas, First Baptist church, Reading; the Rev. Forrest L. White, New England Methodist Conference Board of Education; Miss Marjorie G. Mitchell, Massachusetts Episcopal Diocese youth director; and the Rev. Forest Musser, First Congregational church, Wakefield.

The Institute began in 1950 and Mrs. Anderson took charge the following year. She is general superintendent of the First Methodist church of Melrose, a former house resident head at Lasell Junior College, Auburndale. She has had wide business training and dramatic work.

Dr. Sturges has held pastorates in Massachusetts some years ago and before returning to head the Massachusetts Baptist Convention, he served several years as head of the department of educational evangelism of the National Council of Churches.

The Institute will continue for six consecutive Thursday nights following the opening dinner program. Each of these six nights, the program begins at 7:30 in the same church.

Each year the Institute is held in a different city, rotating among the twelve communities.
